

Top executives of Homberg Investing and Homberg Canada choose Aruba to do some brainstorming.

This week seventeen top executives of Homberg, an international multi-million dollar real estate and investment corporation are in Aruba and staying at the Hyatt Regency Aruba Resort. As described by Frank Matheson, President and CEO of Homburg Canada, Inc. the representatives of Homberg from both Europe and the U.S. are here for their annual Strategic Planning Session.

Homburg Canada has holdings and management offices in Halifax, Monckton, Calgary, throughout the United States, and around the world and was established thirty-five years ago. Homberg Investment, out of Holland, is a publicly traded company listed on the Toronto Stock Exchange. They have an unmatched reputation for secure, well-managed properties and real estate investment expertise. They manage 110 commercial properties in Canada, Germany, The Netherlands, and the United States. Their residential department manages fifty-one properties throughout Canada, and in the Caribbean, they have investments in Barbados. By conducting full management of these properties for their clients, Homberg allows their customers to direct their attention to other investments.

Homberg Investment is headed by Richard Homburg - Chairman of the Board of Directors and C.E.O. Frank Matheson, a past Chairman of the Halifax School Board and the Halifax Forum Commission, is hosting this week of brainstorming. Homberg has chosen the Hyatt Regency as their host hotel where they are being accommodated for a week of morning meetings, to be followed by afternoon business discussions on the fairways of the Tierra del Sol Country Club and Golf Course and The Links at the Divi. Golfing is de rigueur for business executives, and Aruba has two admirable courses for these representatives of Homberg to fully exercise their business acumen. While enjoying a business dinner in the Ruinas del Mar Restaurant in the Hyatt, they expressed that they plan to take full advantage of the island's golfing facilities in their constant efforts to improve the quality of their business practice, acknowledging that the improvement of their swing will only be an incidental benefit.

Aruba's fine hotels continue to be very attractive to top companies from around the world as they offer a relaxed environment for such strategy meetings, but all the important communications and technology that such high-powered companies require.
